

Overview of allocated funding

A combined total of £979,625 has been awarded to 116 community groups and workplaces through the Cycling Friendly programme with a further £821,991 awarded to registered social landlords across Scotland for improvement facilities to promote walking and cycling.

More than 90,000 people will benefit from the funding.

Setting	Number funded	Amount funded	People impacted
Community groups	48	£536,737	Data not collected
Employers	68	£442,888	27,500
Social housing providers	33	£821,991	62,119
Total	149	£1,801,616	89,619

Kath Brough, Head of Behaviour Change at Cycling Scotland said: “We’re delighted to announce funding to 149 organisations across Scotland to encourage more people to cycle. Cycling Scotland work closely with partners to help employers, community groups and housing associations take advantage of the benefits of cycling and this round of funding will provide opportunity for over 90,000 people across Scotland to access improved cycling facilities.”

Elderbank Housing Association, based in Govan, Glasgow, will receive £25,000 to install cycle parking for the 2,700 residents living across their properties, where currently there is no cycle parking. Jim Fraser, Estate Management Inspector, said “lack of storage has been a key issue for residents, especially those in older tenement buildings, so installing bike parking will remove a significant barrier to the uptake in bike ownership and cycling as a healthy activity.”

Govan is well established as an area of high deprivation and residents can often be found to have low household income and higher levels of household debt. This can impact greatly on people’s ability to access public transport beyond a limited geographical area and frequency due to a lack of sufficient finance.

The grant award from Cycling Scotland’s Social Housing Fund provides us with a fantastic opportunity to give our residents safe, secure onsite storage, further promoting cycling as an activity that is good for health and emotional wellbeing, and encouraging residents to travel further afield in a relatively cheap and environmentally friendly way.”

Cycling Friendly Community funding – highlights

48 community groups have been awarded funding £536,737 to deliver a range of cycling activities. The funded projects include Clackmannan Development Trust, Dufftown and District Community Association and Bikes for Refugees.

The funding will reach people in major cities including Glasgow, Edinburgh, Inverness and Dundee as well as towns Falkirk, Kilmarnock and Fort William and rural locations from Shetland to Elgin, Applecross to the Isle of Bute.

Communities that will benefit include BME communities, projects working in areas of deprivation, people living with mental health issues, disabilities, isolation and rural locations. Young people, members of the homeless community, former members of the Armed Forces, people dealing with addiction, refugees and asylum seekers.
